Re: Alpha Eta Omega Colony - Cameron University – Lawton, OK

Brothers,

Over the past two years, the Alpha Eta Omega Colony has taken steps toward Brotherhood.

We cannot begin to tell you about all of their endeavors. But, we will attempt to give you some brief insight on their progress and why we believe they are ready to attain chapter status.

Alpha Eta Omega began as a group of students eager to learn more about Delta Sigma Pi.

Since day one, their journey toward Brotherhood has been a long process but a rewarding one, nonetheless.

They have their ups and downs and continue to learn from their mistakes. With each event, they learn more about the fraternity and more about themselves.

Their hunger for knowledge is evident by their active participation in fraternity events nationwide. From visiting various collegiate chapters to attending area retreats, LEAD Schools, LEAD Provincials, and Grand Chapter Congress, Alpha Eta Omega has made a name for itself within Delta Sigma Pi.

Not only has the Colony made a name for itself within the fraternity, it has also made a name for itself on the Cameron University Campus and in the Lawton Community.

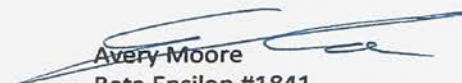

We are proud to report that Alpha Eta Omega has attained the necessary level of professionalism, community service, and philanthropy that we expect from all chapters in Delta Sigma Pi.

We are most proud, though, of the level of Brotherhood they have achieved in this relatively short period of time. Not to mention the fact that they truly understand what Delta Sigma Pi is all about.

With that said, we highly recommend the Alpha Eta Omega Colony at Cameron University be granted full chapter status upon successful completion of their Pledge Program.

We are honored to guide them toward Brotherhood and look forward to calling them "Brothers"!

Respectfully submitted,

Dear Members of the Board:

This letter serves as my recommendation for Alpha Eta Omega colony to receive a chapter charter in the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi. I was delighted when I was approached by Dale Clark in 2011 to facilitate establishing a colony at Cameron University and have been the group's faculty advisor since it submitted its letter of intent in Spring 2012. Since then, I have witnessed the group's enthusiasm for and commitment to Delta Sigma Pi. The colony has grown from about 10 active members at its inception to over 31 members, a testimony to the group's success in developing a student organization that has much to offer business students at Cameron University.

The members have shown initiative in planning many professional development activities such as Financial Boot Camp and Resumania, and hosting a variety of guest speakers from the business community. They have provided outstanding service to the community through several food drives, and volunteering at the Rotary Club Track Meet, Make a Difference Day, Lawton Business Women's Fashion show and the Boy Scouts Fall Festival. Through the group's initiative in forming an alliance with the Lawton Area Chamber of Commerce, students can now become Chamber members at a discounted price providing members excellent networking opportunities. The colony members have provided service to the School of Business by co-hosting the annual Back to Business Bash for the past two years, treating business faculty to a luncheon in Fall 2012 and 2013, and serving as ushers at School of Business events. The group has demonstrated a commitment to developing members' leadership skills by sending representatives to several LEAD retreats, and to the Grand Chapter Congress. In addition to their service and professional activities, the colony has had many social and fundraising events that have made it one of the more highly visible and productive organizations on campus. Networking with Delta Sigma Pi alumni from the surrounding area has deepened the members' desire to become part of the brotherhood.

I am very proud of the progress made by the group thus far. Each member reflects favorably on the School of Business at Cameron University. In light of their many accomplishments, I believe the members of the Alpha Eta Omega colony exemplify the ideals of Delta Sigma Pi and are highly deserving of a chapter charter.

Sincerely,

Roxanne Gooch
Associate Professor of Accounting

To Whom It May Concern,

The Alpha Eta Omega colony of Delta Sigma Pi has been an integral part of the Cameron University campus since its inception in 2012. Their organization is active and professional and contributes to the enhancement of the campus and our surrounding community. Please accept this letter of strong support for their efforts to become a chapter of Delta Sigma Pi.

I have had the opportunity to work directly with Delta Sigma Pi for the past two years as we have hosted Financial Bootcamp. Our goal is to provide important information related to financial literacy, covering topics such as financial aid, budgeting, savings, debt and identity theft. While my office provided funding, the membership promoted the series, coordinated meals, arranged for speakers, managed the event and facilitated the discussion. The series has grown since Delta Sigma Pi got involved, and I am very thankful for their efforts and contributions. We definitely wouldn't have been able to offer this series without their organization's involvement.

I have appreciated my interactions with the leadership and membership of our Delta Sigma Pi colony, and I have enjoyed seeing their commitment to service and scholarship. They are an active and engaged student organization, and they provide wonderful opportunities for their membership. The membership consists of high caliber, professional students, dedicated to their academic endeavors.

I have no hesitation in recommending their colony to become a chapter of Delta Sigma Pi. Please let me know if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Holland
Vice President for Student Services

RE: Recommendation for the Alpha Eta Omega Colony

I am writing to support the petition by our Alpha Eta Omega Colony for full chapter status with Delta Sigma Pi. As dean of the School of Business at Cameron University, I have had the great privilege of supporting and witnessing the tremendous growth, development, and good works of our Alpha Eta Omega Colony.

I am very proud of the activities of our colony, from fundraising initiatives to a strong commitment to the voluntary associations in our community. A sample of these initiatives includes Family Promise Day, OK Mission of Mercy, Boy Scouts Fall Festival, Make a Difference Day, and multiple canned food drives for the Lawton Food Bank and a blood drive for the Oklahoma State Blood Institute. Alpha Eta Omega Colony has also directed the October Financial Bootcamp, Resumania event and several social and recruiting events.

To support the commitment to business education, the colony has hosted various informational meetings and has attended Rotary Club Meetings and a Lawton/Ft. Sill Chamber of Commerce Board Meeting to share input about student membership and fees.

I am pleased to write this letter of recommendation on behalf of Alpha Eta Omega Colony and urge the International Fraternity leadership of Delta Sigma Pi to grant chapter status to our colony. If I can be of further assistance, please let me know.

Sincerely,

Dr. John P. Camey

Dear Board of Directors:

It is my pleasure to offer this letter of support for the establishment of a branch of the Delta Sigma Pi fraternity at Cameron University. The men and women of our School of Business are working hard to serve our community and to earn recognition from your organization.

In addition to the financial "bootcamp" events the group has provided, the Alpha Eta Omega group has also worked with the Lawton-Fort Sill Chamber of Commerce on "Meet the Chamber" events and student membership. They have also worked with other organizations like the Lawton Rotary and the Oklahoma Blood Institute and have conducted canned food drives. They are dedicated to service and to furthering business in our community.

I give them my highest recommendation.

Sincerely,

John M. McArthur

Cameron University

In 1908, one year after Oklahoma became a state, Cameron State School of Agriculture named for the Rev. E. D. Cameron, a Baptist minister and Oklahoma's first State Superintendent of Schools. The first classes held on Statehood Day, November 16, 1909, in the basement of a bank building while a new campus building was constructed.

Cameron added junior college work in 1927. With this changed function came a new name — Cameron State Agricultural College. In 1941, high school courses were dropped, and Cameron became solely a junior college.

The Oklahoma State Regents authorized baccalaureate degrees in 1966 for Higher Education, following action by the Legislature. The institution's name shortened to Cameron College in 1971, and then changed to Cameron University in 1974.

In 1988, State Regents expanded Cameron's functions to include offerings at the master's degree level. This change in function was the first granted to an Oklahoma institution since Cameron was given the authority to offer bachelor's degrees more than 20 years earlier. In May 2004, the Duncan Higher Education Center in Duncan, Oklahoma, became an official branch campus and was renamed Cameron University - Duncan.

Today, Cameron is known as the "University of Choice" and serves students from around the world. Offering more than 50 degrees through two-year, four-year and graduate programs, Cameron is the only public university in Oklahoma that offers associate, bachelor's and master's degree programs at one site.

Cameron University is committed to providing its students a top quality education with caring and qualified faculty. Small class sizes provide an environment where learning and student success are the highest priority. Cameron offers an honors program, early admission, advanced standing, a study abroad program, and college-level examination programs. Free tutoring is available in labs across campus to assist students in achieving academic success.

So confident in the quality education students receive, Cameron University has implemented "The Cameron University Guarantee." Cameron will provide additional education, at no expense to the graduate or employer, to Cameron baccalaureate graduates who enter the workforce and whose employers identify a deficiency in core employment areas in the graduate's major field of study

Accreditation

The North Central Association of Colleges and Schools accredit the university, which accredits schools in Arkansas, Arizona, Colorado, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, North Dakota, Nebraska, New Mexico, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Dakota, West Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming.

School of Business History

The School of Business Building opened its doors to students for the first time in August 2009 with a formal dedication in November. The building was a cornerstone project using $7.8 million of the $13.7 million allocated to Cameron University from the 2005 Promise of Excellence Higher Education Bond Issue and $500,000 in Cameron University funds. The building firmly established Cameron’s architectural palette of “Cameron blend brick,” pitched roof and striking visual elements. It’s more than 32,000 gross square feet with a 114-seat auditorium, state-of-the-art computer and accounting labs, and a finance lab with a real-time stock ticker. The School of Business has multiple interaction areas for students, faculty, and visitors as well as a career center with practice interview areas. The Cameron University School of Business Building was re-named Cynthia S. Ross Hall, following approval by the University of Oklahoma, Cameron University and Rogers State University Board of Regents. Regent Richard R. Dunning, Chairman, requested the name change in recognition of the extraordinary contributions made by Cameron President Cindy Ross over her 11 years of service to the University.

Alpha Eta Omega Colony History

February 29, 2012, Cory Stopka, Jerry Hotwagner, Avery Moore, Mark Wernette and Megan Ray presented information on Delta Sigma Pi for business students at Cameron University. Hearing what Delta Sigma Pi had to offer the Cameron University School of Business students were eager to sign a letter of intent. More than 20 students began to establish the Alpha Eta Omega Colony.

Dr. Roxanne Gooch, a professor and Brother was instrumental in the development of the colony. Waheed Gbadamosi was elected as the first President of Alpha Eta Omega. In the beginning, colony members were filling multiple executive roles and working diligently to expand the colony. During this process, the colony members became more than students with a common goal of bettering themselves and the school, they became Brothers.

Networking and brotherhood are instrumental within Delta Sigma Pi. Along with Brothers in surrounding areas, Alpha Eta Omega colony members are able to rely on the bond of brotherhood to help in all areas of school, business, and colony expansion. Epsilon Zeta was a key part in welcoming the Alpha Eta Omega colony to the region and along with their guidance and leadership helped shape the colony into what we are today.

As some of the original members began to graduate and new recruits were coming in and taking on executive responsibilities the colony began to flourish. An individual member now handled an executive role and tasks were completed in a timelier manner. The organizational structure of the colony was truly taking shape. As the fall of 2013 came around, a large informational was held and recruitment soared. As the colony grew so did the bonding of its Brothers.

With more and more members attending fraternity events throughout the states, the knowledge within the colony was expanding greatly. Each event empowered colony members with the ability to improve themselves and the Brothers around them. Due to contacts made through Delta Sigma Pi colony members were able to find jobs, were offered positions within the community, and were presented with multiple leadership opportunities. Continued improvement of the colony structure and quality of recruits fulfilled the requirements to submit a petition and charter.

Thanks to the hard work of all the Brothers in the colony, a petition was forged and all the members have taken one-step closer to becoming official Brothers of Delta Sigma Pi.
